Turning dreams into reality
NEW CHANDIGARH

The three glorious towers give a sense of pride to the residents of Chandigarh. These towers are symbolic of all the residential towers. The grandeur and luxury of living in such towers cannot be overlooked. The building is a true masterpiece. If the day view of the towers gives you a feel of living in an international city, the night view looks stupendous with illumination lights. So far it may say that the world of New Chandigarh is luminous and will be a hub of trade. Trade Tower, being elegantly the first building in North India to have a LED facade lighting arrangement.
